DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-13 and 23-26, drawn to a method of supplying fluid to a patient comprising purchasing, combining, and supplying fluid without an infusion controller, classified in class 604, subclass 82.
  - II. Claims 14-22 and 27, drawn to a package with a blood treatment machine, tubing, fluids, and instructions, classified in class 604, subclass 5.01.
  - III. Claims 28-30, drawn to a method of supplying fluid to a patient via an infusion controller, classified in class 604, subclass 65.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions in Group I and Group II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the method of replacing patient fluid as claimed does not require the presence of an extracorporeal blood treatment machine or the instructions. Infusion fluid may be provided to the patient by an intravenous line.
3. Inventions in Group I and Group III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination, which recites the steps of obtaining the fluid, does not require the step of providing and operating an infusion controller in the claimed method. The subcombination has separate utility in that it does not require the operator to obtain the fluid as claimed in the combination, and recites a method utilizing an infusion controller.

4. Inventions in Group II and Group III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case method of replacing patient fluid as claimed does not require the presence of an extracorporeal blood treatment machine or the instructions. Infusion fluid may be provided to the patient by an intravenous line with a controlled pump.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
